foreword

*Perspective
is the set of attitudes and standards with which we measure the comparative values of every aspect of life.*

*Every experience
— everything we do,
every person and idea influencing us —
is an element in the never-finished scale of evaluation
by which we make our decisions.*

*These our high school years
are most important,
for in these years of transition
between childhood and maturity
our experiences and the resulting outlooks are the most varied and influential in our young lives.*

*This combination of attitudes,
of standards,
and of relative values
— this perspective —
with which we face
the world as adults is our perspective for the future.*

By working for the school and the community we gain insight into our social responsibilities and into the spirit of service.

By probing and questioning on our own we develop an appreciation of knowledge and a lasting fascination with scholarship.

By competing together or in supporting our school teams, we learn the real meaning of team effort and individual sportsmanship.

By just being in constant daily contact with our classmates in curricular and extracurricular activities we develop lasting friendships.

a definition

To be well educated is to have perspective—defined as the “art of so drawing . . . as to give the effect of solidity and relative distance and size” (American Oxford Dictionary).

This symbolizes the essence of a good education—an understanding of the ebb and flow of the tides of history, a knowledge of our cultural heritage, the ability to distinguish the important from the trivial, a sense of our role in the stream of life, a comprehension of our responsibility in shaping our own destiny.

The twelve most formative years in your lives have concluded. These have been rewarding if they have equipped you with a sense of perspective, for this will be the compass by which you navigate the uncharted seas of the future.

John W. Walsh

dedication

Our perspective must extend beyond classroom decisions into the judgments we make on a more complicated scale in life. We therefore consider it a privilege to dedicate this book to a man who has stimulated us to learn, to question, and to arrive at our own conclusions logically not only in the classroom but in our complex contemporary society; who has encouraged us to act with responsibility in classes, in student government, and thus in life. In appreciation of his inspiration and his encouragement we proudly dedicate this book to a true teacher—

Standing in front of the school with Mr. Donahue, the class advisor, the senior class officers face the future confidently with the values they have gained at North.

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Treasurer Jake seeks inspiration from literature to find ways to make seniors pay class dues eagerly.

"The time has come," the Prexie said, "to talk of many things: of Proms, of pins, of senior dues, of record hops and rings, of why lunch lines are always long, and the cost of Class Day flings." Indeed the Senior Class officers directed and coordinated all class activities. Early in the year the class officers, Michael Greenlaw, Patricia Granahan, Deborah Hodges, and Thomas Morrison decided that they could best serve the class by choosing the best students possible for the prom, dance, spirit, and class day committees, and coordinating the activities of the committees in order to insure top performance.

With this goal in mind the officers carried out their individual duties: Mike coordinated all the committees and smoothed out problems; Pat took care of last minute details, advised the Spirit Committee chairmen, and directed scrapbook activities; Debby handled official correspondence, phone calls, and broadcasts; Jake collected and deposited all money from activities, and handled the prodigious task of collecting dues and keeping the books in order.

Besides these individual tasks, all four took the brunt of all complaints from the student body. They also represented the school at assemblies and conferences.

In all the decisions involved in serving and in representing the class, the Senior Class officers have shown a sense of values and standards that served as an example for the entire student body.

Secretary Diane stops a moment to think what she would like to call the prom.

Prexie Mike eyes the future speculatively.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

In preparation for their own big year, the Junior Class officers demonstrated a remarkable ability both in leading and in organizing their class. Under the capable leadership of Christian Snook, President; Ann Donahue, Vice-President; Diane Deraney, Secretary; Russell Doherty, Treasurer; and Miss McCoy, the class advisor, the class has moved forward successfully.

At the beginning of the year, the officers supervised the ordering and the delivery of class rings, and later they were able not only to increase their own treasury but at the same time to build up North spirit through the sale of North buttons and their two successful dances—the "Broomstick Stomp" and the "January Jive."

At prom time, the officers proved their organizational ability by choosing able committee members and overseeing plans for tickets, refreshments, favors, and decorations. In this way they guided the class successfully to the climax of the junior year—the Junior Prom. By meeting these challenges skillfully they have given the Junior Class a clear insight into the responsibilities which go hand in hand with the social fun of the senior year.

Secretary Diane stops a moment to think what she would like to call the Prom.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Mr. Penna and Gary demand an accounting of the profits from TWIRP weekend.

As the official representative body of the students at North, the Student Council fulfilled its responsibilities to the student body with capable leadership and dedicated service. Under the direction of Mr. Penna, the Council was headed by Gary MacDonald, President; Lynda Clarke, Vice-President; Kathy Grimshaw, Secretary; and Steve Kramer, Treasurer. Under this leadership the members undertook several ambitious projects benefiting the school. Continuing the traditional sale of North pennants and bookcovers, the Council also tackled three new projects: the Sponsorship of TWIRP Weekend, the organization of a bookstore, and the installation of railings on school walks. Throughout the year, the Student Council has served as a forceful element in shaping North's objectives.

EXECUTIVE BOARD

Made up of the presidents of the school's principal organizations, the Executive Board coordinated the activities of North's clubs and represented the school. The chairman of the board, Gary MacDonald, directed the other members, Kathy Cooke, Christian Snook, Michael Greenlaw, Thomas Norton, Theresa O'Brien, and Frances Shachat in fulfilling the board's function. Representing the student body, the members took charge of orientating the freshmen on the first day of school and of greeting all new students, including the exchange student from Chile. By participating in the city-wide Youth Conference, the Executive Board again served as representatives of North.

The Key Club

KEY CLUB

The Key Club is a multi-purpose organization which develops initiative and leadership, provides opportunities for service in both school and community, and prepares members for useful citizenship. In cooperation with the Quincy Kiwanis Club, its sponsor, and the South Shore Association for Retarded Children, the club's main objective is to aid the exceptional children of Quincy. Accordingly, this year several activities were planned for the children, including the traditional Christmas party.

The club's other objectives were reflected in its varied activities, which included the sale of programs at football games, the Trophy Dance for fall sports, the Parents' Appreciation Banquet, the Model Assembly, and the annual ski trip. Under the successful leadership of Mr. Carlin and the officers, Thomas Norton, President; George Olson, Vice-President; Philip Maher, Treasurer; and William Bestgen, Secretary, the boys received many commendations for outstanding service to the community. Among these were three special citations from Kiwanis International for work with retarded children and a plaque from the South Shore Association for Retarded Children. Through its varied objectives, the Key Club has provided its members with a broad spectrum of experience in school and civic service.

GIRLS' CLUB

As we look back on our senior year, we find that one of the most outstanding clubs was the Girls' Club. Led by four capable officers: Theresa O'Brien, President; Julie Doherty, Vice-President; Susan Jakub, Secretary; and Susan Page, Treasurer, this club was engaged in both social and civic activities. The Girls' Club social activities started with a football dance, "Who Is Mr. Touchdown?", sponsored jointly by the Girls' Club and the Drama Club. On February 13, the Girls' Club held its annual Semi-Formal, this year called "Sayonara" and probably the most talked-about dance of the year. The climax of the Girls' Club events was the Manet Show for which all students were invited to submit acts in order to raise money to reduce yearbook costs. The importance of the Girls' Club is not found, however, in its social events but in its civic activities. This year, as always, members of the Executive Board conducted a Thanksgiving Food Drive for poor families in Quincy. Later the club held a Christmas Party for the retarded children at the Pollard School. Through its entire program the Girls' Club has never lost sight of its purpose: service to the school and to the community.

There is something basically hilarious about giving away $500 to the Manet.

The Nurses' Career Club

Comprised of girls who are considering entering the nursing profession, the Nurses' Career Club aims to provide its members with a clearer understanding of the problems of nursing. To help achieve this aim President Diane McCrackin, Vice-President Mary Moore, Secretary Madeline Cedrone, Treasurer Marcelyn Stein, and sponsor Miss Alice Gray, R.N., scheduled trips to hospitals and nursing schools in the greater Boston area. In helping to make Christmas happier for an underprivileged Quincy family, the members gained a personal insight into the understanding and unselfishness necessary in nursing. Through these experiences the girls will bring into whatever field they may choose a greater awareness and understanding of human need.

The Receptionists

RECEPTIONISTS

At any time during the school day, visitors to North were made welcome and given assistance and directions by one of the girls who serve as receptionists. Each receptionist devoted some of her study periods to attending the information desk inside the main entrance. Mr. Penna, the group's advisor, arranged a schedule which never allowed the desk to be vacant. With pride in their school and a readiness to serve, the receptionists helped to create many favorable first impressions of North.

GUIDANCE RECEPTIONISTS

The services of the Guidance Receptionists form an indispensable part of the carrying out of the functions of the Guidance Department. Displaying efficiency and poise in all situations, they greet and assist visiting parents and college representatives. The girls also assist counselors in clerical jobs, by typing letters and memoranda, taking down information, and delivering messages. Always competent and willing to help, the receptionists help to make the Guidance Office, a vital part of North, a smoothly-operating unit.

The Guidance Receptionists

Neatness and consistency are the watch-words of the Dewey Decimal System.

The Library Staff performs an invaluable service to the school in helping to keep library materials orderly and the library's services efficient. Under the direction of Miss Buckley, the members of the staff volunteered their time before and after school and during study periods, carrying out such tasks as checking out books, revising shelves and delivering library permits. But their service was not confined to the library. The staff, led this year by Ann Moore, President; Lynda Leavitt, Vice-President; and Regina Scanlon, Secretary, again undertook the project of purchasing books for a class of handicapped children at the Pollard School.

Beginning early in the fall the Prom Committee met continuously to combine their creative abilities toward making the night of May 21 a memorable one for the class of 1965. Nick Verenis and Gail Ougoorlian, Committee chairmen, and the four class officers were faced with a number of problems but came up with good solutions. Conferences with class advisor, Mr. Donahue, and the principal, Mr. Walsh, further crystallized the plans. Finally several alternatives were presented to the whole senior class for its decision. The vote favored holding the Prom at the King Philip at Wrentham on Friday, May 21, 1965. Once this decision was made, the Committee was able to concentrate on the actual preparations for the Prom, such as making the programs, ordering favors, and choosing a band. At last everything was ready for the long-awaited night and couples set out for the King Philip for an evening of music and dancing.

DANCE COMMITTEE

Dances always provide an opportunity for interested seniors to work together sharing ideas, planning details, selling tickets, hiring a disc jockey, and decorating the gym in order to make a big success not only for their class but also for the underclassmen who attend. Under the leadership of chairmen Joan Ronayne, George Fell, Gerry Mercadante, and Midge Curtis, the committee members were inspired to cooperate and succeeded in producing two of the liveliest dances of the year—the "65 Jive" and the "Bermuda Hop."

The Class Day Committee

Starting early in the year the Class Day Committee and its advisor Mr. Donahue mixed together a concoction of hard work and careful planning and seasoned it with their wild imaginations. More precisely the important ingredients were the perfect location, Lake Pearl, and a co-ordinated plan taking care of the arrangements for the necessary athletic equipment, food, and transportation. The result was a day filled with swimming, eating, game-playing, and signing Manets. The class of 1965 will always remember this final class activity because of the successful efforts of this committee.

M.P.P.C.

The Motion Picture Projectionist Club has the important job of maintaining the audio-visual equipment used at North. Mr. Mason, the club's sponsor, assigns a specific aspect of this job to each of the members. Some of the boys are responsible for getting equipment to and from classrooms; others assist in after-school activities and assemblies.

A source of particular pride to the club this year was two new 16 mm projectors. These additions have enabled the club to provide even better service to the school in broadening the scope of classroom learning through audio-visual aids.

LATIN HONOR SOCIETY

The Latin Honor Society

Elaine and Russ help Rick emulate Cicero.

The German Honor Society, under the sponsorship of Miss Ruth Meisner, was organized to give recognition to students who have achieved academic distinction in their study of German. The officers, President Frances Shachat, Secretary Mary Bauer, and Treasurer David Hanson gave direction to the club's interest in becoming acquainted with the culture of Germany. The members gained an insight into yet another culture through North's exchange student from Chile, Adriana Cerda, who was made an honorary member of the Society.

The Latin Honor Society has recognized students who have shown outstanding accomplishment in the Latin language. Students in grade nine with an average in Latin of 90 or better, and in grades ten, eleven or twelve with averages of 85 or better, qualified for membership. Under officers Richard Goldstein, President; Joan Quintiliani, Vice-President; Madeline Cedrone, Secretary; and Russell Doherty, Treasurer, the Society has continued both to give recognition to those who have achieved and to provide incentive for the achievement of others.

NATIONAL SPANISH HONOR SOCIETY

The National Spanish Honor Society

Each year, second and third-year Spanish students who received all A's in their first year of Spanish and have maintained an 85 or above average are honored by induction into the National Spanish Honor Society. The new members must then continue to keep their grade average at C or better. This year, the Society's officers, Brenda Goldberg, President; Pat Dodd, Vice-President; Claire Donaghey, Secretary; and Christian Snook, Treasurer, led the members in car washes, cake sales, and other profitable ventures in order to raise money for a scholarship to be awarded to a deserving student of Spanish. Thus, members of the Society not only received recognition for their achievement but also gained a firsthand perspective of cooperative effort.

Rub a dub dub. The Spanish society's officers practice a perennially successful fund-raiser.

FRENCH HONOR SOCIETY

The French Honor Society

The French Honor Society, now in its second year under the sponsorship of Mrs. Jack, participated in a new regionally-based program under the guidance of its officers—Patricia Dodd, President; Claire Donaghey, Vice-President; Patricia Granahan and Kathleen Hennessey, Secretaries; and Ann Yeomans, Program Coordinator. In this program, the French Honor Society acted as a host in May for La Belle Americaine, a French film. In addition to taking part in this project, the Honor Society prepared for the May induction of new members. Between their study of French in the classroom and their participation in the Society's program, the members broadened their cultural background and increased their practical knowledge of contemporary France.

Mr. Walsh congratulates Susan on her induction into the National Honor Society.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Each year the National Honor Society inducts juniors and seniors who have demonstrated outstanding scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Sponsored by Mrs. Black and Mr. Miceli and led by Eric Pearson, President; Linda Maloney, Vice-President; Geraldine Mercadante, Secretary; and Duane Harding, Treasurer, the members continued to show a spirit of service by holding a dance this year for the benefit of North's organ fund. As a highly-regarded school organization, the Society contributed a standard of excellence to the set of values which form the perspective of North's student body.

MARINE SCIENCE

The Marine Science Class

Mary, Bill, and Bob classify the objects collected on a beachcombing trip.

Under the direction of Miss Schields, the Marine Science Club met every Tuesday in Room 416 with the purpose of increasing each member's knowledge of the marine world and stimulating his interest in it. To achieve its purpose, the club first learned about different branches of marine life by listening to reports given by club members. Then members tested the newly-acquired information by identifying and classifying specimens collected on field trips to Wollaston Beach. As evidenced by the school and regional science awards presented to the co-chairmen, William McWeeney and Robert Murray, for their projects in marine science, the club has realized its goal.

RUSSIAN

North's experimental Russian course, now in its second year, has met with continuing interest from both students and teachers. Under the direction of Mr. Tanguay, the twenty-five students who comprised the first and second-year groups met on alternate mornings from 7:45 to 8:15 in room 415. The course offered a study of basic grammar and aimed to build a vocabulary for speaking and for reading. Not only did the pupils in the course profit from their studies, but the rest of the student body and the faculty gained a new interest, as is evidenced by their constant query, "How do you say that in Russian?"

MANET

The newness had worn off the 4 x 5 cubbyhole the Manet editors called home and the advisor was no longer naive about yearbook business, but the individualistic editors of the 1965 Manet made change the keynote of their planning. Maureen McCabe designed a cover distinctive in its departure from all previous Manet tradition. This break with tradition was continued in the informal layout and color scheme Diane Carlson designed. As Debbie Lockwood strove for originality in the copy in areas other than grammatical construction, Frances Shachat was the taskmaster who insured that each editor focused her contribution on the controlling idea of the book. Questioning the balance of Diane's layouts or revising Debbie's revised copy, Franny somehow pushed the staff into meeting every deadline. Paul Manning made all the machinery of the yearbook run more smoothly by tracking down recalcitrant Literary Staff writers and helping with the subscription campaign. Armed with a broad smile and quick wit, Lynne Goodman secured the financial backing necessary for the realization of the staff's revolutionary ideas. Finally, ever-present with subtle reminders of approaching deadlines, Mr. Murphy kept a constant check on the progress of each phase of the book and supplied the staff with experienced assistance.

Yet the new ideas in design and layout only served to accentuate the editors prime objective—to express all of the class's experiences in the meaningful pattern that all experiences contribute to the individual's ability to make decisions according to a mature standard of values. Indeed, the editors hoped that this pattern would be as meaningful to the class as it was to them during the long hours they spent fulfilling their duties.

TYPISTS

Once every month through the pages of the school newspaper students gain a fresh and comprehensive perspective of the everchanging pattern of personalities and events that are part of North. Successfully coordinating efforts of the entire staff were the Editor-in-Chief, Emily Koretsky; the members of the Editorial Board: Robert Huke, Philip Maher, Diane McCrackin, and Paula Shay; and the advisor, Mr. Jones-Henry.

Spirited and tireless North Star reporters kept Room 401, headquarters for the paper, informed of the latest school news. Featured in every issue were write-ups of outstanding individuals among the members of the Senior Class, athletic squads and the faculty, and expressions of the views of readers and editors on current issues. Throughout the year the North Star continually brought into focus the information and inspiration which stimulate pride in our school and a desire to achieve.

ART CLUB

The Christmas season was the busiest for the Art Club this year. Each member demonstrated his artistic ability by creating a festive spirit throughout the school in many imaginative posters, murals, and window designs. Led by President Peter Johnston, Vice-President Maureen McCabe, managers Leslie Shugrue and Marguerite Barron, and the advisor Mr. Keaveny, the club combined its creative talent with that of the Music Department in the cultural exhibits and activities of the Spring Arts Festival. In all its projects, the Art Club contributed to the school spirit of the students at North.

DRAMA CLUB

Long, weary hours of rehearsal plus talented members were the principal components of the success of the Drama Club this year. Finally securing a sponsor, Mr. Ingersoll, the club chose its officers, Holly Grazioso, President; Donna Pitt, Vice-President; Nancy Drinkwine, Secretary; and Nancy Shute, Treasurer. Once organized, the group began plans for the climax of its year, a musical staged for the benefit of the North Star. At last, in April, the combined efforts of the Drama Club and the school's musical organizations made possible the presentation of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Ruddi Gore."

CONCERT CHOIR

The Concert Choir

A comparatively new group at North, the Concert Choir is composed of students chosen by audition only. Under the new music program, the choir, directed by Mr. Ingersoll, met five times weekly. The competitive selection of the members and the increased rehearsal time enabled the group to attempt more difficult music and achieve a higher degree of perfection than ever before. The acceptance of several choir members for the district and state choruses and the award of an A-1 rating at the New England Music Festival to eight choir members, auditioning as a double quartet, served to point up the improved quality. Whether participating with the other musical organizations in assemblies and concerts throughout the year or performing for community groups, the Concert Choir provided its audience with a meaningful and enjoyable experience.

Mr. Ingersoll conducts the double quartet in the "Hallelujah Chorus."

MIXED CHORUS

The Mixed Chorus

This year has been a year of change and enrichment in the music department. A new music teacher and an expanded program in music with additional rehearsal time enabled students in the Mixed Chorus to perfect their singing as well as to broaden their selections. Thus the Club gave an excellent performance at the Thanksgiving and Christmas assemblies, a public concert in the fall, the Annual Spring Concert and the new "Pops" concert. These programs were indeed evidence of the diversification of the musical experience of the club.

The Science Club

SCIENCE CLUB

Come rain, come shine, come seven other club or committee meetings, on Wednesday afternoon at least forty members of the Science Club were drawn to room 429 for the weekly meeting. In fulfilling their goals of broadening their own knowledge of science and increasing the scientific interest of the rest of the student body, the members were led by Miss Shields and other members of the science faculty and by the club officers: Randy Sharp, President; Eric Pearson, Vice-President; Mary Moore, Secretary; and Robert Leavens, Treasurer. A meeting could consist of a report by a member on his project or on a summer science program, a science film, a demonstration of new equipment by a faculty member or a student, or a special program by a science expert from outside the school. Several times the club sponsored field trips to technical facilities in the area. Yet the high point was North's seventh Science Fair. To the general public, the Fair gave an insight into student activities at North and into opportunities open to students in science. To the participating students, the Fair as well as other Science Club activities during the year provided the opportunities to demonstrate their specialized knowledge and to talk to professionals within their fields of interest.

DEBATING CLUB

The Debating Club

Should nuclear weapons be controlled by an international organization? This was the basic question which the North Quincy High School Debating Team argued all year. Every Wednesday afternoon, members of the debating squad went to various South Shore high schools to present their views on the subject. At these weekly debates, our debaters exhibited the results of thorough research, careful organization of material, and practiced speech techniques. Led by President James Dunn, Vice-President Arthur Houle, Secretary Karen Cunningham, and Treasurer Leslie Powers, North took part in over sixty debates this year as a member of the South Shore Debating League. The team climaxed its successful year by participating in several tournaments and speech festivals. Through this club, the debaters not only developed poise and self-confidence in speaking before a group but also became well informed on an important world issue.

GREAT BOOKS

Every Friday after school the members of the Great Books group met in Room 201 to discuss selections from great literary works. The purpose of the discussion was not to come to any fixed conclusion but merely to present the ideas of such authors as Sophocles, Machiavelli, Shakespeare, and Rousseau. Although Miss Persis Johnson, the group's leader, asked questions to stimulate and guide discussion, the participants had to reason for themselves and form their own opinions from the reading and the ideas of others in the group. Through the discussion, the students were given the opportunity to both broaden and focus their perspective of human experience.

FOOTBALL

The North Quincy High School football team, this year, passed through a season which proved to be filled with hard luck. First came the shocking news of Coach Leone's heart seizure. Secondly, the team was plagued with injuries throughout the season. Finally, they had one of the roughest schedules in the school's history, playing against tough Class A competition.

In the opening game of the season, the Raider team found themselves up against last year's Class A champs and suffered a 22-8 defeat. Hampered by a start-of-the-season defeat, the team fell again before the strong Malden and Medford teams. But, when Chelsea High School came into Veterans Memorial Stadium on October 24, the Raiders exploded. Rated the underdogs, North handed Chelsea a fine 28-8 defeat sparked by the great play of quarterback Rick Wanless, halfback Fran Lacey, and end Lang Willis.

North's upset win over a strong Somerville High team, 14-6, for the returning Coach Leone, left North high in spirit as they gunned for a decisive victory over their Turkey Day rivals, the Presidents from Quincy High. The odds were against North, yet they went out on the field determined to bring home a victory for North. They almost did as out of sheer determination they gave Quincy "their toughest game of the season" in a close 12-8 decision.

"Forty-all," called Dick Courtney to Coach Roy Sinclair.

"What are the scores on the Morrison and the McCarthy singles?" asked the veteran coach.

No matter how confusing this conversation might seem to a casual passer-by, it might easily have been overheard at any one of North's sixteen fast-moving matches this year. As a member of the South Shore League, North played Quincy, Brockton, Weymouth, Catholic Memorial, B. C. High, Sacred Heart of Weymouth, and Hingham.

Even before the season began, Mr. Sinclair was sure of improving last year's 7-5 record with his varsity squad of eight Squantum scrappers and one Montclair maverick.

At the conclusion of the 1964 soccer season North Quincy High School was able to boast the proud title of South Shore Soccer Association Champions. Coach George Golding, in only his second season as coach, carried the talented team to a record of eleven wins and one defeat.

More than just a compilation of wins, this record represented a spirited fight to dethrone Sharon High School, the champions since the Association's beginning in 1959. Predicted to be of no threat in the league race, North overcame its inexperience with a strong competitive attitude and hard work. Winning the South Shore Championship gave North a berth in the Massachusetts Schoolboy Soccer Tournament. After a hard fight, however, North fell before a strong Newton High School team.

The captains who guided North through this successful season were Steve Kramer, Richard Quinn, and Jack Trefry. In posting the greatest season in North's history, the team was sparked by a scoring punch which provided 43 goals for the season. The big reasons for this great number of goals were all-scholastic player Larry DeFelice, who scored an amazing nineteen goals, and senior Jack Trefry, who scored ten. The offense, although strong, would have had little success without the superb defense paced by Paul Bregoli, Dave Hanson, Mike Kelly, and all-scholastic goalie Steve Kramer, who posted four shutouts and averaged only one goal scored on him per game.

In its best and most exciting season in years, North Quincy High's basketball team captured the Greater Boston League Championship and won a cherished berth in the Tech Tournament. With a combination of unparalleled spirit and hustling the team dribbled, shot, and rebounded its way from a preseason rating of average to an outstanding record of 16 wins and only 1 loss.

From the start, North displayed superb form as the first away game pitted them against the league favorites, Everett. But a determined Pete Varney saw to it that Everett was the lesser of a 78-65 game. In the second of a series of three close games Dave Zink and Captain Mike Greenlaw tied Somerville at the ten second mark. Then Greenlaw's half court swish with 2 seconds left downed Somerville 65-63. In the closing seconds of the January 19th Quincy game, Pete Varney's jump shot handed North a slight 1 point margin of 58-57.

As the second half of the season began, a twenty-point victory over Medford saw all twelve in the scoring column for a second time. It was not until Everett's big Ed Siduit came into North's gym that the Raiders fell by a mere 3 points. The Everett game and the two to follow demonstrated the quality of the bench as Rich Giachetti and Lang Willis substituted for two players whose temporary injuries could not immediately be eased by the tapewinding abilities of managers Robert Gore, Nick Verenis, and Steve Kramer.

The Everett loss sparked some emotions as North rolled over Malden and then Revere to qualify for the Tech Tourney with four games yet remaining. The last of these games saw the Raiders go out in style as Dave Zink scored 27 points in an all-out effort to subdue the Presidents. The result, North 74 and Quincy 63.

Coach Laing

The Raider Hockey Team under Coach Bob Laing settled for a long, though sometimes breathtaking, losing season. The final record was 0-13-1. Although the first half of North's season was disheartening as North lost all its games, near the end of the season North seemed to find the right scoring and defensive combination with Skip Smith, Rick Jakub, and Ron Malzone as forwards and Bob Lippens and Ed Gallagher on defense.

Improvement was evident in the Don Bosco game as North led at the end of the first period. Goals were scored by Rick Jakub, who was assisted by co-captains Bob Lippens and Skip Smith. Don Bosco, however, made a rapid comeback in the second and third periods to pull ahead 4-3. Not to be denied, North came back again as Russ Doherty scored the tying goals with Todd Smith assisting. Such memorable playing proved that the Raiders deserved the loyalty of the boosters who cheered them throughout the season.

With Captain Steve Sager and Coach John Donahue leading the seven-man team, North's golf pros were off on another exciting year of competition within the South Shore League. Mr. Donahue looked forward to a successful season and was certain the boys would win the majority of their 16 matches with Quincy, Duxbury, Hingham, Weymouth, Scituate, Cohasset, Watertown, Braintree, and Milton.

The reason for this confidence? Team members Ed O'Neill, Peter Fick, Mike Davis, Ron Malzone, Jim Barkas, Rich Starsiak, and Steve Roger were all veterans of the varsity team and practiced constantly on weekends. With such experience and diligence, the golf team was sure to fulfill Mr. Donahue's predictions.

TRACK

On your mark! Now set! Go! These words appropriately represented the spirit of North's hustling track squads. North started its year-round participation in track with cross-country in the fall. Coach Jerry Lyons' team, captained enthusiastically by John Lavery, had a successful season, winning all but two of its seven meets. In addition to its regular season meets, the team competed in the Catholic Memorial Invitational Meet and the State Meet. John Lavery and Rich Starsiak both finished in the top ten at the State.

The second phase in North's track season was winter track, coached by Mr. Robert Gentry. The young, inexperienced squad, dominated by juniors and sophomores, found it tough going in this year's Metropolitan League, finishing with a dismal 2-5 record. Nevertheless at the State Winter Track Meet at the Garden John Lavery came in fourth in the 1000 yard race and Gerry Byrnes second in the mile. Yet, the greatest cause for encouragement was that the team had gained invaluable experience and had improved greatly by the end of its season.

With a strong cross-country squad and an experienced winter track team, Coach Gentry was confident that North would fare well in the third phase of track competition in the Spring.

A staggering start by North's track squad.

North's Gymnastic Team under Coach George Golding finished its most successful season in three years of interscholastic competition with a fine record of 7 wins and 2 losses. The members of the team worked tirelessly throughout the season to develop and improve their routines on the mats, horizontal bar, side horse, still rings, parallel bars, and floor exercise. Standouts among the many fine members of the team were Richard DelGallo, Steve Sager, and Paul Fawcett, all three lettermen. In the State Individual Championships in which Paul, Steve, and Richie competed, Richie became the state champion in tumbling and was second in floor exercise. The hours of hard practice by the squad as a whole in whatever space available resulted in exhibitions of great skill and agility leading to a fitting culmination of the year as participants in the Massachusetts State Team Meet.

The Baseball Team

Even well before the snow had vanished from the diamond, the 1965 baseball season promised to be one of great success. The team boasted eleven returning lettermen, seven of whom had started on North's first team to play in the strong Greater Boston League. According to some predictions, these seven could provide North with the most powerful hitting team in the league. The pitching chores were to be handled by two returning starters and two hopeful J.V.'s. Adding to the team's strength were two other veterans and two newcomers.

The team faced a temporary setback when it lost the services of veteran coach Ed Phillips. Mr. Robert Lewis, his replacement, has had great success working with boys and developing winning teams at Atlantic Junior High School. The boys were really looking forward to playing under his guidance. With the leadership of Mr. Lewis and the experience of the boys the team promised to have both the ability and the poise to carry it through a very successful season.

North's Cheerleaders

CHEERLEADERS

In their spare time the cheerleaders form shaky pyramids.

Outstanding examples of school spirit and good sportsmanship this year were North's cheerleaders. Under the supervision of their advisor Miss Katherine McCoy and head cheerleader Kathy Cooke, the twelve energetic members of the squad, with the occasional help of the two substitutes, cheered North's teams on to victory. Besides meeting a demanding schedule of games and rallies, the cheerleaders spent long hours at early morning practices and frequent sign, pompon, and shaker meetings.

Outfitted in the traditional red and black, the squad was joined this year by the warpaint and headdresses of the boy cheerleaders. Both squads maintained the enthusiasm of the spectators and the morale of the teams at a record high with spirited war cries of "Go Big Red!"

But at the game the North locomotive reverberates through the stands.

North's Majorettes

MAJORETTES

Half time at the football games this fall was always the setting for exhibitions of color, precision, and coordination by the members of the drum majorette squad. Dressed in colorful Indian costumes, the majorettes added much to the spirit at games and rallies as they twirled to the accompaniment of the band. Throughout the fall in rigorous practice sessions each Tuesday and Friday afternoon, the squad went through their intricate routines under the supervision of their sponsor, Miss Mary O'Connor. Although made up almost entirely of sophomores and juniors, the ten-member squad, headed by senior Marilyn Mushlin, overcame any lack of experience through consistent practice.

During the remainder of the year, the majorettes performed in North's Annual Spring Concert and marched in both the Christmas and Memorial Day parades. Whatever the occasion, the majorettes represented North well with excellent performance and true school spirit.

VARSITY CLUB

Made up of students who held a letter in at least one of the varsity sports, the Varsity Club boasted an exclusive membership. With a first-hand interest in North's teams, the club lent its support this year through the sale of "Beat Quincy" and Varsity pins. For the first time, the lettermen extended membership to a female athlete, Julie Doherty, who was awarded a letter for her performance in the National Junior Backstyle Meet. As club secretary, Julie helped President Paul Zambernadi, Vice-President Barry Welch and Treasurer Edward Holden plan activities worthy of the organization's distinguished members.

SPIRIT COMMITTEE

The Spirit Committee Chairmen

Win or lose, the members of the Spirit Committee kept up an endless effort to provide spirited support for North's teams. Week after week the Committee plastered the staircases with posters urging attendance at all games, and set a good example by their own loyal backing. During the fall, Walter Horion and Kathy Murray coordinated the spirit that helped make possible the successes of the football and soccer teams. Continuing into the winter, Edward Brennan and Mary Croft led the Committee in keeping spirit at a fever pitch for the hockey and basketball squads. Throughout the year the Committee set a high standard of school spirit for the entire school.

BAND

The North Quincy High School Band

Mary leads the band through their favorite selection—"Hello, Dolly."

With smart new uniforms and five rehearsals a week, the band played its way through the year with unprecedented excellence. Serving as a marching unit during the football season and as a concert band for the remainder of the year, the group contributed much to school spirit and musical enjoyment at North. Besides participating in such programs as the Christmas and "Pops" Concerts, some band members auditioned and were accepted to the New England Southeastern District Festival Band. These same students plus the newly-formed saxophone quartet took part in the New England Music Festival at Boston University. The fine representation at these festivals may be attributed to a great extent to the band's director, Mr. Emmett Ingersoll, who worked with the members in becoming familiar with musical notation and improving intonation and rhythmic accuracy. Providing capable leadership were the organization's officers: Jeffrey Bright, president; Robert Gore, vice-president; Sally Sly, secretary; and David Fisher, treasurer.

The officers blow up a storm.

"Everyone after the ball!" is the motto of girls' basketball games.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Anyone regularly passing the girls' gymnasium on Tuesday or Friday afternoons this year would not have been amazed to hear continuous bursts of screams, because these sounds were the characteristic signs of the girls' basketball games. Under the tolerant coaching of Miss Mary O'Connor the twelve girls' teams each played once a week, competing with other teams from their own classes for the class championship. Once these games were over the four class champs played in the finals to see who would become the school champions. Win or lose, these girls exhibited their love for fun and the enthusiastic spirit that is characteristic of North.

Girls' Basketball

GIRLS' BOWLING

Girls' Bowling

It's a spare! It's a strike! It's the Girls' Bowling Club from North Quincy High! Every Monday afternoon at the Norfolk Downs Candlepin Lanes these girls rolled those little black bowling balls down the long alleys with the wide, wide gutters. As their club advisor, Miss Katherine McCoy, helped to keep score, the members tried to qualify for the high single, high average, or most-improved bowler awards. Together with their club officers Lynda Warner, President; Laura Pinto, Vice President; Pam Green, Secretary; and Lee Nightingale, Treasurer, the girls had a great deal of fun, while at the same time improving their style and developing a sense of good sportsmanship.

BOYS' BOWLING

Every Friday afternoon the North Quincy High Boys' Bowling Club met at the Wollaston Boulevard Bowladrome. Under the enthusiastic direction of Mr. Paul Carlin, the skilled bowlers formed teams to compete among themselves for honors. Awards were given at the end of the year to the bowlers with consistently fine bowling records. In addition to enjoying and improving their bowling, the club's members proved to be outstanding representatives of North by their show of good sportsmanship.

RIFLE CLUB

One of the Rifle Club's functions is apprehending suspicious-looking co-members.

The zing of flying bullets and sporadic shouts of "Bulls-eye!" were the customary sounds attending the weekly meetings of the Rifle Club. But amid the noise of steady fire, the members were actually learning about the safe handling of firearms and developing accuracy in shooting. Instructed by Mr. Burgess, some of these marksmen qualified for the club's rifle team, which competed against other teams from Quincy, Braintree and Holbrook. Members of the team, as well as all other shooters, were allowed to advance at their own speed and strove for progressive awards within the club: promarksman, marksman, marksman first class, sharpshooter, expert rifleman and distinguished rifleman.

From the Editors . . .

Lynne, Paul, Frances, Debby, Maureen, Diane, David

Through our experience as editors of the 1965 MANET we have become aware of the necessity of the hard work and co-operation of many in producing a yearbook. For the invaluable assistance and support of our staffs, our patrons and advertisers, our publisher, Mr. Roswell Farnham, our school photographer, Mr. James Bleiler, and our adviser, Mr. Thomas J. Murphy, we are sincerely grateful.

Before you accept that first job . . .

Look over your employer
as carefully
as he does you

What's the Company like anyway? Would I be proud to work there? Reputation for square dealing with employees? Pleasant surroundings?

Will I be working with others my own age? Are they friendly? Do they socialize after hours?

Will the boss be reasonable? Appreciate good, hard work, but won't explode if I make a mistake?

Will I make a decent week's pay? Have a chance for raises, advancement, more responsibility? How about fringe benefits?

Is the work challenging? I had what it takes to get through high school. Will they give me a chance to use my brains?

Note: Many young men and women in this area can answer "Yes" to these questions. They work for New England Telephone Company . . . New England's largest employer.

Why not talk with our employment interviewer soon . . . before you graduate? Ask your Guidance Counselor to tell you when and where to apply.
